Drew Speight's love of cars led him to research educational options other than universities. He chose Stanly Community College where his instructors quickly realized he was gifted in the autobody field. Not only has he excelled in the classroom, he's also won two statewide competitions. "I could not have achieved this level of success without my SCC instructors," Drew said. "Their support and guidance helped me network and secure my dream job - before graduation."

Badin Brews

124 South First Street, Albemarle, North Carolina

Since its opening in July 2021, Badin Brews owner Joshua Hicks says the Albemarle community has supported the business well.

“We have been well-received by the citizens here,” Hicks said, adding that in addition to constantly seeing and meeting new customers, the brewery has also developed a consistent base of repeat customers.

“We’re seeing new customers every day, and since we’ve opened we now have quite a few regulars,” he said.

What is Hicks’ formula for success? “Just sell,” he said, adding that the brewery offers almost-endless beer and wine options.

“Our selection of both domestic and European beers is big,” said Hicks. “We carry 24 beers on tap, and around 200 additional choices in the cooler as well.”

A number of wine choices are available.

“Our wine selection consists of eight house wines, with another 50 available,” he said.

Badin Brews also offers a number of special promotions for its customers.

“On Tuesdays, we do trivia nights, and on Thursdays we have karaoke,” Hicks said. “Then, on Friday and Saturday nights, we have live music, plus we have food trucks here on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.”

In addition to the regular promotions, customers are invited to come in, watch TV, shoot pool or enjoy the foosball table with friends.

When asked if he has plans to expand or open additional locations,

Hicks said he prefers to stay put...at least for now.

“I’d say the answer to expansion or relocation is ‘uncertain,’ ” he said. “We want to be right here, but some nearby towns have extended invitations.”

Garrett Starnes assists a patron with the throwing technique at Tomahawk Throwing Range and Blade Shop.

Tomahawk Throwing Range and Blade Shop

130 South Second Street, Albemarle, North Carolina

When brothers Garrett, Brandon and Mitchell Starnes started axe throwing, it was for fun...not a living.

“We started around ‘12-ish’ years ago,” said Garrett. “There were no leagues back then, so we just did it for fun.”

As time passed, the brothers gravitated from hatchets, which have wider and heavier blades, to tomahawks, which are more streamlined and customarily have been used as weapons.

After a number of years of throwing on his own, the inspiration to take his hobby to the next level came to Garrett by way of a phone call.

“A friend called me from Charleston, South Carolina and told me about an axe throwing center located there,” he recalled, “and I thought ‘I need to see what I can do with that.’”

The result is the Tomahawk Throwing Range and Blade Shop, located across the street from the Stanly County Courthouse in downtown Albemarle.

Having opened in September 2022, Starnes says, “Business has been good. We’ve had a lot of interest and great support from both the city government and citizens.”

The facility features 10 throwing lanes, and is available for group and corporate events, parties of all types, and walk-in customers. In addition, a mobile throwing wall is available, and can be scheduled for off-site events.

“We also offer leagues and tournaments,” he said, including a youth league for ages 12 and up.

An additional attraction, soon to be added, will be the Tomahawk Break Room.

“That’s not ‘break’ in the sense of ‘taking a break,’ ” said Starnes. “It’s ‘break’ in the sense of breaking stuff...some places call them “Smash Rooms” or “Rage Rooms.”

According to Starnes, participants will be given a box of breakables and a baseball bat, will don a Tyvek suit and goggles, and “have at it” in a colossal stress release.

“We invite everyone to come out and give us a try,” said Starnes.

Red Bridge Golf Club

6801 Gatehouse Road, Locust, North Carolina

“Golf has exploded recently,” says Mark Davis, golf pro and general manager at Red Bridge Golf Club, in describing the recent influx of players at the Locust course.

With increased play comes increased maintenance, as Davis noted that aeration of greens, taking place in mid-July, would be only a short-term inconvenience for those playing the links.

“We are always striving to make improvements, and our greens and putting surfaces should be playing well after they have ‘rested,’” he said.

According to Davis, Red Bridge is slated to host a number of golf tournaments and outings for local organizations during the fall of 2023.

“We will be hosting the West Stanly Rotary event on Oct. 6,” he said, adding that additional events are scheduled for Raise Ministries (Oct. 13) and Endy Optimist Club (Oct. 20).

Davis encourages organizations to consider the Red Bridge course for outings and tournaments.

“Not only do we offer a unique and exclusive location, but also a well-executed and successful event,” he said.

Piney Point Golf Club

48688 Piney Point Road, Norwood, North Carolina

“It’s been a busy summer,” says Charlie Maness of Piney Point Golf Club in summarizing play volume at the course through June 2023. “Our greens are in great shape, and we have quite a few special events and outings coming up later this summer, and in the fall.”

The greens at Piney Point have been getting “rave reviews” since being changed from Crenshaw Bentgrass to Champion Bermuda in 2016, accounting for much of the increase in play.

The hybrid bermuda grass is easier to maintain during the hot and humid months of the summer, and provides an excellent putting surface year around, according to information provided by the club.

In addition to a top-notch facility, Piney Point also provides a number of instructional programs including individual lessons, adult golf clinics and family golf events. And, for young golfers, the club participates in the PGA Junior Golf League with teams from other area golf clubs, as well as offering instructional clinics.

A number of outings for various organizations are also scheduled in late summer and early fall, including the Stanly County Chamber of Commerce event on Aug. 16, Stanly County Special Olympics (Sept. 18), Friends of the Senior Center (Sept. 28) and Preformed Line Products (Oct. 6).

As a result of the club’s high golf volume, Maness urges those planning to play to call ahead.

“We highly recommend tee times,” he said.

Uwharrie Brewing

121 North Third Street, Albemarle, North Carolina

“Business has been great,” said Uwharrie Brewing owner Colton Baker when asked about customer traffic since the brewery’s Feb. 25, 2023 opening.

Describing the customer flow as “consistent,” Baker added that his busiest times are usually from around 6 to 8 p.m. on Fridays, and from 4 to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

As Albemarle’s first on-site brewery, Baker has converted a former fire station to a brewery, turning out its own unique recipes in what he describes as a “10-barrel system.”

Uwharrie Brewing is housed in a former Albemarle fire station.

“With the 10-barrel system, we are able to brew about 310 gallons of beer in a given batch,” he said.

Baker went on to note that the brewery sells only what it brews.

“We offer 13 varieties of beer, all brewed in-house,” he said. “These include our own various ales and lagers, all of which are sold on tap by the glass.”

Customers who wish to take some locally-brewed beer home with them may purchase “The Growler,” a 64-ounce glass container, which is available specifically for this purpose.

“We also offer a number of wine and cider selections,” added Hicks, noting that in addition to the 13 varieties of beer, the brewery also carries five varieties of cider and five more of wine.

Larger quantities of the Uwharrie product are available as well.

“We sell kegs to local restaurants who carry our beer,” he said.

Baker was also quick to add that the brewery offers a number of non-alcoholic options, including non-alcoholic beer and root beer.

Uwharrie Brewing features a spacious indoor seating area with TV screens, as well as a large quantity of outdoor tables.

“We invite everyone to come out and give us a try,” he said.

Armadillo Axe Throwing

124 West Main Street, Albemarle, North Carolina

Although the armadillo is not native to Piedmont North Carolina, the decor at Armadillo Axe Throwing in downtown Albemarle features it extensively.

Owner D.J. Zaleski credits co-owner Earl Dedmon with providing the business’ namesake, after the latter ended up in possession of “a bunch” of the armored-possum themed collectibles which he and a friend had accumulated over a number of years. Many of those replicas are now found throughout the venue, which provides what the owner describes as “a family environment” promoting a relatively new sport.

“Axe throwing now is where cornhole was 10 to 15 years ago,” says Zaleski in describing how the activity is gaining popularity.

The West Main Street facility features an open area surrounded by throwing lanes along the outer walls.

“We want people to come in and enjoy their time here with their families,” Zaleski explained.

“The middle area is a social area, and anyone who is not involved in our axe throwing is invited to enjoy our activities there free,” he said, adding that cornhole, checkers, Jenga and other games are available, as well as concessions.

Nevertheless, the business’ central

theme is axe throwing, and interest is growing, according to the owner.

“We offer leagues (sanctioned through WATL - World Axe Throwing League), and our facility is set up to meet their criteria. We host parties, corporate events, team-building workshops and celebrations, as well as basic instruction for walk-in customers.”

Zaleski noted that safety is always the first consideration, and new customers are given a 15-minute orientation session before participating in the actual activity.

“We want people to come in, relax, and have a good time,” he says. “Our whole point is to provide a fun activity while promoting downtown Albemarle,” he said.

Parks and Activities

While most towns in Stanly County have developed at least one public park, only three have implemented the additional step of funding parks and recreation departments to develop, oversee and maintain facilities and provide activities and programs for their citizens. Also, the county itself is in a slight minority in that county government does not fund a countywide department (54 of NC’s 100 counties do so).

In the Stanly County towns that do not fund dedicated parks departments, facilities are normally maintained by public works personnel with the town. Programs in those areas are mainly geared toward youth, and are organized and governed by parent-run youth sports associations.

Albemarle

With Stanly County’s longest-established parks and recreation department and largest municipal population, it’s only logical that Albemarle would have the largest number of public parks and the most acreage dedicated to recreation of the county’s 10 incorporated towns.

The four stand-alone parks in the county seat offer a wide variety of passive and active opportunities for all ages. The oldest park, Rock Creek, was built

Locust

As the western end of Stanly County continues to grow at a breakneck pace, Locust has expanded from a small crossroads community to the county's second-largest town. To meet the growing need for leisure-time activities and facilities, the town established the county's second municipal parks and recreation department in the late 1990s. Since that time, the department has procured a number of grants and has developed Locust City Park to house most of the area's outdoor activities and sports leagues.

Located adjacent to Locust Elementary School, the park is a sprawling activity hub, with four lighted baseball/softball fields, two lighted soccer fields, a football / multi-purpose field, tennis courts, a dog park, a basketball court, horseshoe pits, and walking trails. The fields are used heavily on spring, summer and fall weekends for various youth tournaments, as well as local league play.

Officer Jeff Shelton Memorial Park is immediately adjacent to the City Park, and provides safe and well-maintained playground equipment for youngsters.

Not all activities in Locust happen in the park, however. Family movie nights are held April through October in Locust Town Center, and an End of Summer Concert in September brings live music to the Town Center as well.

Registration for activities can be done at the Parks and Recreation office, which is located in Locust City Park, but online registration is also available for most programs.

Oakboro

The Town of Oakboro is the most recent of Stanly County's municipalities to establish a parks and recreation agency. The department was formed soon after the development of Oakboro District Park, an approximately 40-acre facility which includes a disc golf course, five shelters, three mini shelters, workout stations, horseshoe pits and about a mile of walking trails as well as restrooms. There is also an amphitheater, two lighted baseball/softball fields, a football/soccer field and a 1,000-foot Nature Trail and Walking Trail Bridge in the facility. The picnic shelters and amphitheater are available for reservation, which can be done by contacting the department office.

In addition to Oakboro District Park, two kayak/canoe access points to the Rocky River are available, one at the NC 205 bridge, and one at the Long Creek bridge on N.C. Highway 138.

Two community buildings are available for rental, one at the District Park and a smaller one on Long Street.

Stanly County Family YMCA

Originally established and funded by Wiscassett Mills, the Stanly County Family YMCA offers programs and facilities for members and guests throughout the year.

Members have access to the Strength 7 Cardio Center which features free weights, Hammer Strength plate loaded equipment, Cybex & LifeFitness selectorized strength machines, Precor treadmills, Octane recumbent cross trainers, Cybex & LifeFitness upright bikes and Matrix steppers.

In addition, two swimming pools (a warm-water and a cool-water pool) are operated and staffed with certified lifeguards. Group exercise classes are available for all ages and abilities as well.

A number of youth sport programs, including tee ball, soccer, basketball and volleyball are offered as well, with activities taking place in the main YMCA building as well as in the adjacent park between North First and North Second streets. The park includes an accessible "All Kids Playground" (developed in cooperation with the Albemarle Rotary Club), as well as an athletic field and an activity building.

In addition, the Stanly County Family YMCA offers summer camps, afterschool programs and learn-to-swim programs. Additional information on programs and facilities is available by calling or visiting the Y.

What Makes Stanly Great?

Mandi Rogers
New London
Resident

Stanly County has been my home for more than 50 years. Our county is great for many reasons, one being the close-knit community we share. I cannot count the number of times I have seen our community come together to help individuals, churches and non-profit organizations to name a few.

Stanly County is also perfectly situated between the beach and the mountains, which allows easy day trips or overnights. We also have beautiful places like Morrow Mountain, the YMCA, local lakes and parks that offer activities for everyone.

For more than 10 years, I drove outside of the county to work. I am extremely thankful for the opportunity I got in 2015 to work at Uwharrie Bank and be a bigger part of this community. I also co-own a business with my daughter in downtown Albemarle and we have truly experienced amazing support from local patrons at our small business. I am very blessed to call Stanly County home.

Robin Davis
Norwood resident and business leader

Living in Stanly County is a truly fulfilling and delightful experience, and there are numerous reasons why I love calling this place home.

Firstly, the natural beauty of Stanly

County is truly captivating. The rolling hills, lush forests, and serene lakes create a picturesque backdrop for everyday life. From hiking through the scenic trails of Uwharrie National Forest to spending leisurely afternoons by the shores of Lake Tillery, the opportunities to immerse myself in nature's wonders are endless. The beauty of the county never fails to inspire and rejuvenate me.

Additionally, the rich historical heritage of Stanly County is something I deeply appreciate. Exploring the Stanly County Museum and visiting sites like Morrow Mountain State Park allows me to delve into the past and learn about the people and events that shaped this region. Norwood, the charming lakeside town, adds to the county's historical charm with its preserved stories and memories of early settlers.

Every corner of Stanly County is steeped in history, reminding me of the roots and traditions that have endured over time.

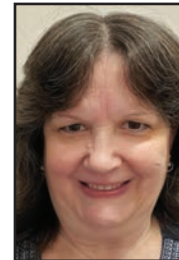

Moreover, the sense of community in Stanly County is truly remarkable. The residents here are warm, friendly and always ready to lend a helping hand. The town of Norwood's commitment to outdoor murals by local artists not only adds artistic flair to the streets but also reflects the unity and creative spirit of the community. The numerous events and festivals throughout the year provide opportunities for neighbors to come together, celebrate, and forge deeper connections. The strong sense of belonging and support within the community makes me feel truly fortunate to be a part of Norwood, Stanly County.

Lastly, living in Stanly County offers promising opportunities for business development and growth. The county's favorable business environment, combined with its strategic location, provides an ideal platform for entrepreneurs and start-ups to thrive. With diverse industries and resources available, the county encourages innovation and collaboration. The supportive ecosystem, along with the low cost of living, creates an environment where aspiring business owners can turn their dreams into reality.

In conclusion, the wonders of living in Stanly County are plentiful. From its awe-inspiring natural beauty and rich historical heritage to its strong sense of community and promising business opportunities, this county truly embodies the essence of a fulfilling and delightful lifestyle. Every day, I am grateful for the chance to experience the unique charm and embrace the many blessings of calling Stanly County my home.

Stanly County is a small county (compared to where we came from in Pennsylvania); however, it has great impact.

Business and housing have been growing exponentially, affording the opportunity for many to both live and work locally within the county without having to drive great distances.

A huge variety of businesses are located within Stanly County. Both big-box chains as well as independent mom-n-pop businesses are situated together making Stanly County a wonderful place to eat, shop and conduct business.

City living, country living, home, town home or apartment, there are options to satisfy almost anyone choosing to move to Stanly. My husband and I have found our forever home here, without question.

The wide variety of activities that occur throughout the county are sure to please families, couples and singles alike. There are car shows, craft fairs, movie nights, musical entertainment, farmers markets, holiday entertainment, swimming, fishing, running/walking paths, parks and playgrounds. The county, as well as individual cities, go above and beyond in creating friendly, engaging activities.

Stanly County has tremendous educational opportunities as well offering private and public education (preschool through 12th grade) and has one of the best community colleges in the country (Stanly Community College), a small private undergraduate university (Pfeiffer University) and a continuing education medical master's degree campus (Pfeiffer University – Center for Health Sciences).

Lastly, the fact that Stanly County is only a relatively short drive to cities such as Concord, Charlotte, Kannapolis, Mooresville, Salisbury, Asheboro and more makes it a centralized hub offering infinite possibilities.

The Stanly County Way is so sweet.

I have had the opportunity to reside in larger, more metropolitan communities and have had the privilege of calling Stanly County home for 20 years.

After posing for a quick picture near Albemarle Sweet Shop, a sense of sweetness overtakes me. Small towns may not be the home of multiple multinational corporations or the seemingly endless amenities that big cities offer. However, they do offer something that we all desire and ultimately need: community.

More times than none, with fewer people, often comes a closeness that simply isn't possible in the anonymity of a larger city. When neighbors know one another and recognize each other on the street, a sweet spirit of cooperation takes hold, and residents work together.

There is truly something to that adage of “neighbors helping neighbors,” and I have seen first-hand the catalyst created by a small group of thoughtful citizens. Seeing those small-scale ideas combined with the skill sets of our heartfelt Stanly County residents, I continue to be amazed by the lasting impact made in the communities that we proudly call home in Stanly County.

One thing is for certain, I would not trade what I have here for anything else. What I have here in Stanly County is community.

Look at Morrow Mountain State Park bordered on two side by Lake Tillery and the Uwharrie Mountains, what a great experience with camping, hiking and boating.

Located almost in the middle of the state, mountains and beaches within a two-hour drive and close enough to larger metropolitan areas such as Charlotte and Greensboro for entertainment, dining and international airports.

Some of the best farm land with great scenic views year-round. With towns and cities that can accommodate all your daily needs and commercial business. We are also blessed to have Stanly Community College and Pfeiffer University in our county.

As a business owner and resident of Locust we are told daily that this is a great place to live.

We have folks from all over the state and even outside the state say they are very impressed by our town and county. With all the great things mentioned above about Stanly County, the one asset we should be most proud of is our citizens. We are proud to call Locust and Stanly County home!

Chamber sponsors events throughout the year

Each year the Stanly County Chamber of Commerce sponsors events for Chamber members and the community. Let's take a look at these offerings.

Leadership Stanly

Each year the steering committee selects a class from the people of Stanly County that are both gifted and highly motivated. This class will be exposed to concerns as well as opportunities from across the region, participate in discussion forums and attend team building events.

Candidates must be a resident of or working in Stanly County.

A candidate's participation must be endorsed by their employer or sponsored by a civic or non-profit organization. In addition, the employer and candidate must be willing to commit to the attendance policy in the application.

PO Box 909, Albemarle, NC 28002-0909 704-982-8116 www.stanlychamber.org

The fee is $900 and covers all costs for the 9-month program. Monthly programs are planned by experts in government, public services, transportation, education, economic development and other fields. Programs will explore decision-making and how government, small business and community organizations work together.

The program will also include both field studies and community awareness visits.

Golf Tournament

The Chamber also hosts an annual golf tournament. The 31st Annual Chamber Open Golf Tournament is a Captain's Choice tournament that will feature prizes for hole-in-one, closest to the pin and longest drive. This tournament is a county favorite that you do not want to miss.

Reverse Raffle

October is when the Chamber partners with The Albemarle Rotary Club to host a Reverse Raffle. Join us for a chance at the $3,000 cash grand prize. Each ticket will get two entries into the event and one entry for the cash prize. The last ticket drawn will win $3,000, while the runners-up will get $1,000 and $500. Tickets cost $100 per couple and we will have 300 available for sale. Your odds of winning are GREAT!

Safety Awards Banquet

Every year we partner with The N.C. Department of Labor to recognize area employers and employees with an Annual Safety Awards Banquet. The awards honor outstanding on-the-job safety achievements of the businesses in Stanly County.

Ribbon Cutting

Let us bring the "BIG" scissors and help you celebrate! Whether it's a new business, an expanded business or you are a new Chamber member, call us to arrange your "official" ribbon cutting. This is a members-only service that is a perk of Chamber membership. Call us at 704-982-8116 or email Sandy Selvy-Mullis at sandy@stanchamber.org.
